

Parentlink 101 - Updates for You

By The School District of Lee County

As of last week, parents should be able to log into Parentlink and see the cumulative grade for each class their child attends. You may have noticed however that detailed assignment grades are missing. This is a temporary situation while the District's new gradebook software (FOCUS) and Parentlink work on merging their systems to show assignments.

Did you forget how to log into Parentlink? No worries, follow this link for instructions. <http://parentlink.leeschools.net/>

It's best to log into Parentlink inside of the Lee County Schools App so that you are just one click away from grade information.

You can find

 Lee County Public Schools

in the app store.

In the meantime, parents wanting to see detailed assignment information have the option of logging into FOCUS directly beginning October 1. Follow the below link and follow the log in instructions. You will need to know your child's student ID number and date of birth.

We believe that FOCUS and Parentlink will live happily ever after in the very near future. Thank you for your patience while we work on their new relationship with one another.
